Ordinary documentation

This file exists so the test suite can prove that scan_pdf() does not flag an ordinary PDF. It carries compressed content streams and an embedded font, and no active content whatsoever: no JavaScript, no automatic actions, no launch actions and no embedded files.

A rule broad enough to flag this document would also flag this project's own installation guide, which is how the unanchored variant of the AdditionalActions rule was caught.